

Types of errors

- syntax errors
- logic errors
- Exceptions

course 8
Module 1

Security mindset

The ability to evaluate risk and constantly seek out and identify the potential or actual breach of a system, application, or data

Customer data

- Credit card numbers
- Social Security numbers
- Emails
- Usernames
- Passwords

Module 2

Incident escalation

The process of identifying a potential security incident, triaging it, and handing it off to a more experienced team member

Essential skills to escalate security incidents

- Attention to detail
- Ability to follow an organization's escalation guidelines or processes

Malware infection

An incident type that occurs when malicious software designed to disrupt a system infiltrates an organization's computers or network

Unauthorized access

An incident type that occurs when a individual gains digital or physical access to a system or application without permission

Improper usage

An incident type that occurs when an employee of an organization violates the organization's acceptable use policies

Escalation policy

A set of actions that outline who should be notified when an incident alert occurs and how that incident should be handled

Module 3

Stake holders

- Risk managers
- Chief Executive officer (CEO)
- Chief Financial officer (CFO)
- Chief Information security officer (CISO)
- Operation managers